The B-TEK Weighbars are a low-profile scale offering quality construction and components at an affordable price-point. The Weighbars are built to meet the requirements of light industrial and commercial business applications.

The quality construction starts with a heavy structural channel sub-frame. This forms a tough, rigid platform. Plated tool steel load cells are used. Level-Flex rubber feet are fully height adjustable and provide a stable base with flexibility to compensate for imperfect mounting surfaces. Materials up to 40' in length can be weighed, the bars are attached with 2 - 20' cables to allow them placed up to 40' apart.
